

I consider the increasing consolidation of media outlets a threat to our democracy. The FCC has already been far too permissive in this regard. I implore you not to permit still further consolidation of a vital means of communication in ever fewer hands.